

Were they mutations caused by radiation? A secret weapon genetically engineered for the military? Some previously undiscovered species that predates the fossil record? Maybe they were alien creatures from another world? Whatever they were, the Graboids made the idyllic lives of Perfection Valley's residents less than perfect.

All anyone really needed to know was that they were underground monsters attracted by vibrations above.

GEOmetric Design, Inc. proudly presents...TREMORS...This kit'll grab you.

TM & © 1989 UNIVERSAL CITY STUDIOS, INC.

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED. LICENSED BY MCA/UNIVERSAL MERCHANDISING, INC.

Kit Includes

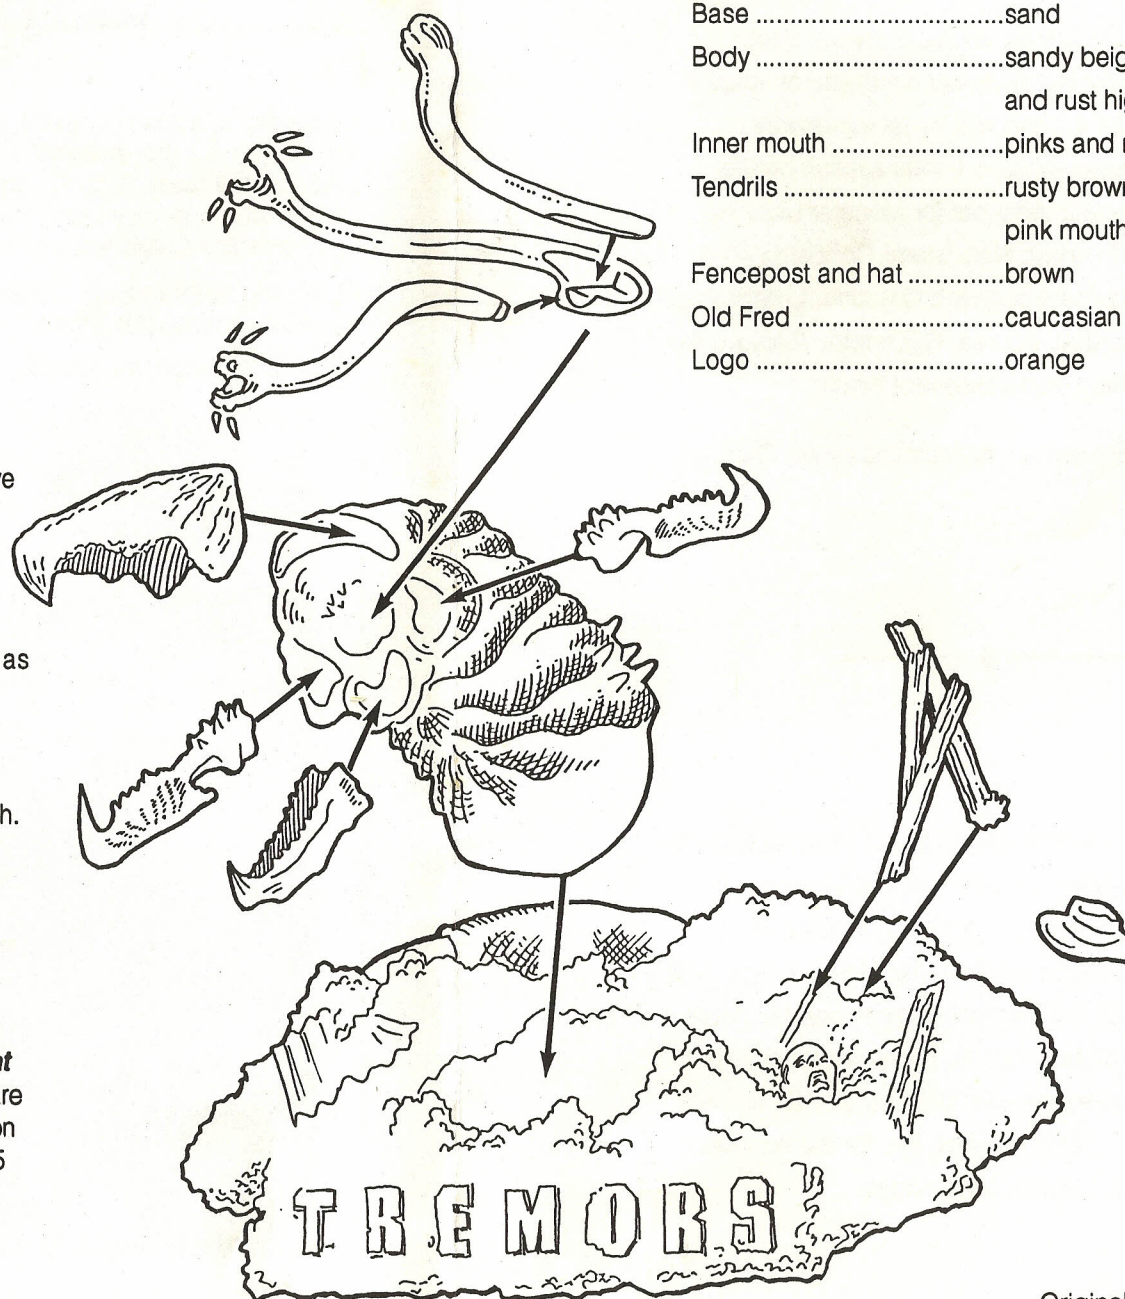

1. Base
2. Body
3. Beak
4. Mandibles (3 pcs.)
5. Tendrils (3 pcs.)
6. Horns (8 pcs.)
7. Fencepost
8. Old Fred's Hat

Directions

- a. This kit is not intended for modelers under the age of 14.
- b. Wash parts with soap and water to remove mold release. Dry.
- c. Where necessary, sand seam lines and putty seams between pieces.
- d. Using adhesive of your choice, join parts as indicated in the diagram. We use superglue, supergel, or epoxy cement.
- e. Using paint of your choice, primer this wicked worm and then paint it as you wish. See Suggested Paint Scheme. We use acrylics and shading cakes.
- f. Now step back and admire your work. No bragging please.
- g. For more information regarding building resin model kits, get The Garage Kit That Ate My Wallet! by Terry Webb. Order care of Webb-Head Enterprises, 2618 Milverton Way, Columbus, OH 43224. Send $12.95 postage paid.

Suggested Paint Scheme

Beak and mandibles	semi-gloss black with brown detailing
Base	sand
Body	sandy beige with grey, black, and rust highlights
Inner mouth	pinks and reds
Tendrils	rusty brown with dark orange stripes, pink mouths and black horns
Fencepost and hat	brown
Old Fred	caucasian flesh and white hair
Logo	orange

Original sculpture by John Dennett
Diagram and Original Box Art by Rich Hilliard

TREMORS was sculpted by John Dennett of East Lansdowne, PA. Having sculpted hundreds of figures (nay, thousands) for the gift and metal miniatures markets, John has launched a frontal assault on the garage kit industry with new kits for Monster Museum (their Edgar Allan Poe kit); Necronomi-Concepts (The Caretaker, Vampyr, Frankenstein's Creation, Lycanthrope, Brinke Stevens); and, of course, GEOMetric Design (our Fiend Without A Face and Lieutenant Worf).

Look for future GEOMetric kits sculpted by Mr. Dennett.

GEOMetric Design wishes to thank and acknowledge Mr. Bob Burns for providing us with photo reference materials; Mr. Alec Gillis and Mr. Tom Woodruff of Amalgamated Dynamics for their inspiration, props, and reference materials; Mr. Michael Hughes and Mr. John Hornick of Universal Studios; Mr. Rich Hilliard for the great box art and diagram; our talented friends at Grim Reaper Casting in Clifton Heights, PA, for the excellent metal parts; and, of course, Mr. Dennett.
